Catholic Charities' Community Centers - Havens of Hope

Since 1919, Catholic Charities has been assisting the poor, protecting the vulnerable, empowering the broken, advocating for social justice and promoting human dignity. Almost one hundred years later, Catholic Charities continues to be a friend and advocate for those facing adversity and remains strong in its commitment to provide help and create hope for the needy in Los Angeles, Santa Barbara and Ventura counties.

Today, the agency operates 22 community centers and seven homeless shelters, providing a holistic combination of accredited social services that remove barriers to self sufficiency and wholeness. The programs, such as life skills education, counseling, and immigration services, are tailored for the unique circumstances of the people who are served, and the impact is real and measurable.

Catholic Charities is faith-based and, professionally and compassionately, serves all persons who come to the community centers. The agency is focused on improving the quality of life for all people, regardless of their backgrounds.

The staff and volunteers of Catholic Charities cultivate a genuine passion of ministering to the needs of the poor and vulnerable. Many are multi-cultural and bilingual, allowing the agency to effectively support persons of every race and language in the communities.

The support of friends allows Catholic Charities to deliver its critical work of providing help. The need of all clients moves us to sustain the agency's community centers - havens of hope for those in need.

September, 2012

Dear Friends of Catholic Charities:

This has been a blessed year for me. As I look back at my first year as Archbishop of Los Angeles, with all the diversity of language and culture, as well as the liveliness of the Church here, I am filled with gratitude for the call to serve this Archdiocese.

In the past year, I became more familiar with the remarkable work of Catholic Charities of Los Angeles. The agency is as diverse as Southern California. Because many of the staff are multi-cultural and bilingual, Catholic Charities is able to effectively reach out to people from every race or language in our communities, who are in greatest need, especially in this challenging economy.

Catholic Charities provides help and creates hope for almost 300,000 people each year through programs aimed at alleviating hunger, strengthening communities, guiding children and teens, protecting the elderly and assisting immigrants and refugees. In the last year, the agency offered over 1.25 million services to the poor and the underserved. This is a great blessing amidst the difficult times we continue to endure.

I am very grateful for your continued faithfulness and generosity toward our brothers and sisters who are less fortunate, so that, through Catholic Charities, they may find help and hope in the Archdiocese of Los Angeles.

Let us commit ourselves to serving those who are hungry and thirsty, the sick and the homeless, the immigrants and the elderly, for in serving them, we serve Christ.

I pray that through the intercession of Our Lady of the Angels, Jesus may grant us the grace to do everything out of love for God and for our brothers and sisters.

May God grant you peace and joy,

+ José H. Gomez

September 2012

Dear Friends of Catholic Charities:

In biblical times, the shepherd was not just a leader but a friendly and attentive guardian. He was concerned about the life of his flock. He led the flock to the pastures and springs. He protected it from predators and wild animals. He guarded it from dangers.

Catholic Charities, like a shepherd, is not just a leader but a friendly and attentive guardian to the poor and vulnerable in our society. We are concerned about the well being of our clients. We lead them to opportunity and self sufficiency. We are advocates for them so society will not ignore them.

During another challenging economic year, Catholic Charities was able to not only maintain our level of service to the underemployed but also expand some of our services for the homeless. In collaboration with the State of California, County of Los Angeles, Century Housing and private foundations, we built a new family shelter called Elizabeth Anne Seton Residence. We also opened Angel's Nest, a transitional facility for youth 18 to 24 years of age, to assist them from foster care to self sufficiency.

As you read our Annual Report, you will notice that we have balanced our budget. I commend our Board, Managers and Finance Department for working together to spend within our means.

Catholic Charities is grateful to our supporters who have enabled us to serve the unemployed and underemployed this last fiscal year. We are appreciative of your trust and are committed to serve those most vulnerable during these difficult economic times.

God bless,

“In addition to providing a robust after-school sports program, CYO athletics teaches our kids how to play with sportsmanship, pride and a sense of spirit within the Catholic community.”

– Scott Martin, St. Philip the Apostle

Youth Employment Services - AYE

AYE provided paid job experience, education, mentorship and support services for underserved youth from low-income families living in high poverty areas. Youth were offered basic skills training that empowered them to reach their full potentials and effectively transition to adulthood and careers. Through partnerships with a network of employers, educational institutions and community agencies, AYE was able to furnish youth with vast opportunities that led to self-sufficiency and success.

- ◆ In program year 2011-2012, AYE served 1,773 youth and young adults under the combined Workforce Investment Act (WIA), Community Services Block Grant (CSBG) and Summer Job programs.
- ◆ Foundation grants offered year-round paid internships and assistance with special needs such as housing, childcare and other necessities which are not normally covered by public grants.

Catholic Youth Organization - CYO

CYO, an after-school and weekend athletic program, promoted interscholastic sports for 170 Catholic elementary schools. The program fostered the development of self-esteem, honor, responsibility and camaraderie among the youth participants. Students in grades three through eight competed in ten sports which included flag football, volleyball, basketball, softball, soccer, track and field, cross country, bowling, golf, and cheer.

- ◆ Over 25,000 students participated in various CYO sports in the past school year.
- ◆ “Play Like a Champion,” a training program for all coaches that is designed to ensure the safety of the children involved in CYO sports, certified nearly 400 coaches in the last academic year. Certification through the program is a mandate of the Archdiocese of Los Angeles.

Boys are given the opportunity to excel in CYO soccer.

Immigration Services

Immigration Services provided family-based programs that focused on family reunification, literacy, support and advocacy for refugees and immigrants.

Together with other legal immigration providers in Los Angeles County, Immigration Services launched a Citizenship Campaign which involved group application workshops and presentations to help lawful permanent residents apply for citizenship. The program helped 928 clients with their immigration needs.

Refugee Resettlement

Refugee Resettlement offered an array of services such as ESL classes, mentorships, life skills orientations and job readiness workshops to help recently arrived refugees and asylees adapt to the new U.S. culture, gain self-sufficiency and smoothly integrate into mainstream society.

Newly arrived refugees are aided by Catholic Charities' staff.

A grant from Parishes Organized to Welcome Refugees (POWR), an Archdiocesan-based resource program to deepen parish and community involvement in resettlement work, engaged parishioners in "welcoming strangers."

Central Intake Unit – CIU

CIU offered case management, job services and life-skills workshop to refugees and immigrants through two distinct programs, Refugee Employment Program (REP) and Community Services Block Grant (CSBG).

An Immigration Services' staff person assists a client in the necessary fingerprinting.

The Central Intake Unit served about 400 clients per month with case management and job services and assisted almost 300 individuals with life-skills workshops. At least 40% of the clients maintained employment.

Esperanza Immigration Rights Project

Esperanza granted direct legal services, orientations, education and advocacy to detained immigrants, including children, who would otherwise have no access to legal counsel.

Legal assistance was provided to approximately 8,000 men, women and children going through Immigration Removal Proceedings. Over 25 volunteer attorneys, law students, and other professionals partnered with Esperanza to provide hope, and advance social justice, to the communities' most vulnerable immigrants.

"I greatly appreciate the Citizenship classes. The staff not only helped me with my immigration needs, but they also referred me to an English literacy class to improve my reading and writing skills."

Our Lady of the Angels Pastoral Region – Metro Area

- ◆ Angel’s Flight Runaway and Youth Services served 97 young people with food, clothing, counseling, education, medical care and shelter and helped almost 3,000 at-risk youth through My Club and Angel’s Flight Community Outreach. The program reunited some of the youth with their families.
- ◆ Good Shepherd Center for Homeless Women and Children completed the renovation of ten units at Farley House Transitional Shelter, creating additional housing for homeless mothers with children. Included in the center’s core services were community outreach, drop-in services, shelter, case management, counseling, job training and life skills classes. The center’s programs supported 850 women.
- ◆ In the Hollywood area, St. Mary’s Community Center assisted over 6,000 clients with their immediate needs for food, clothing, emergency shelter and linkage to community resources. Sack Lunches were also prepared for the homeless who came to the center. A partnership with QueensCare and Christian Legal Aid enabled clients to receive basic medical care and legal consultations.
- ◆ El Santo Niño Community Center, set in a poor neighborhood of central Los Angeles, primarily served children and youth through its Adeste Child Care Center and an after-school tutoring and mentoring program for middle and senior high school students. El Santo Niño’s services, which included a very successful gang-prevention program, assisted 410 people.

Our Lady of the Angels Pastoral Region – Western Area

- ◆ St. Margaret's Community Center, which covers the Lennox, Inglewood and Hawthorne areas, assisted over 16,780 individuals with emergency food, shelter vouchers, rental and utilities payments, counseling, English and U.S. Citizenship classes, literacy programs and referrals to community resources. Local low-income residents also availed of the on-site application assistance for the CalFresh/Food Stamps Program.
- ◆ The only food program on the westside of Los Angeles that is open on weekends, St. Robert's Center served meals and supplied toiletries, clothing, and food to over 2,700 homeless and low-income persons. Volunteers, made available through partnerships with six local Catholic parishes, assisted in preparing sandwiches and distributing other basic needs items. The center also offered counseling to help individuals and couples.
- ◆ In South Los Angeles, St. Michael's Church partnered with Catholic Charities to provide supplemental food to the needy residents of the areas around the parish. Food distribution was handled by a group of dedicated church volunteers. In the first six months, approximately 450 families benefitted from the program.
- ◆ The Adeste After-School Child Care program, a comprehensive service designed to enhance children's social, physical, cognitive and language developmental skills, offered licensed, quality child care to almost 275 children at three elementary schools.

San Fernando Pastoral Region

- ◆ Loaves and Fishes Pantries in Van Nuys, Canoga Park and Glendale delivered food and clothing to low-income and homeless individuals residing in the mid-San Fernando Valley. Reflective of the poor economy, 73% of these clients accessed services multiple times.
- ◆ As one of the largest poverty programs in the city, the Glendale Community Center offered after-school programs for children and a Homeless Prevention Program. The center also helped families on welfare, disabled veterans, seniors on fixed incomes, immigrants and refugees, and the working poor. Participants had access to job counseling, resumé building services, rental assistance, motel vouchers and advocacy services.
- ◆ Guadalupe Community Center in Canoga Park helped at-risk, school age boys and girls between six and twelve years of age. The all day pre-school and after-school programs served 44 low-income children. The services will be expanded to include a Neighborhood Learning Center, adding remedial instruction to the curriculum aimed at increasing student grade level skills. The center also has programs to assist immigrants and refugees.
- ◆ The Older Adult Services Intervention System (OASIS), based at Guadalupe Community Center in Canoga Park, assisted 166 seniors. It is a collaboration between Catholic Charities and volunteers from surrounding Catholic parishes. Eighty-eight volunteers helped to keep the elderly living in their own homes by offering support services which included companionship, light household chores and transportation to stores and to medical appointments.

San Gabriel Pastoral Region

- ◆ Helping low income and homeless individuals and families, San Juan Diego Center in El Monte and Brownson House Community Center in East Los Angeles served 14,219 clients and delivered over 30,600 services. The Basic Needs Program supplied food, clothing, emergency shelter, transportation, and utilities subsidies.
- ◆ The San Gabriel Valley Best Babies Collaborative referred teens and women with high risk pregnancies to life skills classes focusing on healthy births.
- ◆ At Brownson House, 35 older adults participated in the weekly Senior Recreational Club, playing Loteria and enjoying educational lectures on topics such as osteoporosis, retirement planning and social security benefits.
- ◆ The Art of Parenting Program, a 26-week parenting workshop, offered health and recreational activities for women and children. Various weekly activities were arranged for 188 clients, including a support group for stay-at-home women, education workshops, arts and crafts and Zumba exercise classes, open to all ages.
- ◆ Pomona Community Services served 811 individuals with homeless prevention by helping them maintain current housing and thereby avoiding eviction. Working with the Inland Valley Hope Partners, 34 households received rental and/or utilities assistance.
- ◆ At the McGill Street House, a transitional shelter for women with children, five households were served. Of the five, three families moved into permanent housing.
- ◆ The Adeste childcare program provided 95 children with after-school care. A five-week, all-day summer camp hosted 35 children.

San Pedro Pastoral Region

- ◆ The dedication ceremony for the new Elizabeth Ann Seton Residence was held in March. Archbishop José Gomez blessed the building and over 300 community representatives and volunteers celebrated the opening. This new facility will accommodate more homeless families, the elderly and the disabled.
- ◆ The Elizabeth Ann Seton Residence and Project Achieve emergency shelters and the community centers in the San Pedro Region served 736 persons. Temporary shelter, food and transportation were among the 24,700 services provided to those seeking assistance.
- ◆ The Project Achieve “Guest Chef” program was expanded to include additional trainees who, along with dedicated volunteers, helped cook and deliver food seven days per week to 59 at-home residents. Of the 543 individuals who were near homelessness, all received rental assistance and remained in permanent housing.
- ◆ Mahar House in Wilmington and the Oasis Community Center at the Villages at Cabrillo in Long Beach, offered life skills classes to 248 individuals in job seeking, communication and better parenting techniques. As many as 68 people found employment through the job placement program.
- ◆ At Project Achieve Shelter, volunteer painters from the “2011 Color Care Across America Program” helped paint the facility, creating warm and inviting surroundings.

Santa Barbara Pastoral Region - Santa Barbara County

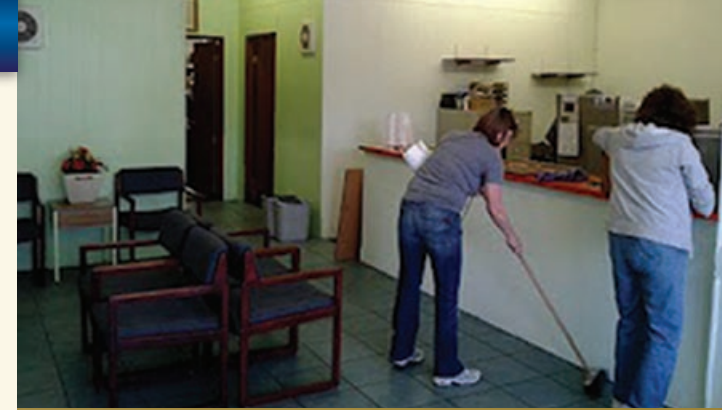

A couple and their dog received help from the "Wagging Dog Tales" project.

- ◆ Catholic Charities' Lompoc Food Distribution Services program helped 17,827 individuals. In partnership with the Santa Barbara FoodBank and other food wholesalers, that food pantry delivered 2.1 million pounds of food. Rental assistance and utilities subsidies were just two of the 82,268 other sources of aid offered to those in need. The on-going challenge is to provide for the unprecedented numbers of new customers seeking food services, many for the first time.
- ◆ In Santa Barbara, Carpinteria and Isla Vista, over 70,698 services were rendered to the working poor by Catholic Charities. Of the 9,160 unduplicated clients served, approximately 88% qualified as "low income" under Federal poverty guidelines.

- ◆ The C.A.R.E 4PAWS partnership allowed qualifying low-income, older adult clients (age 60+), to receive no-cost pet food at the Catholic Charities' community centers in Lompoc and Santa Maria. In addition, the Wagging Dog Tales project offered financial assistance to qualifying, low-income senior pet owners (age 60+), for dog-only, emergency medical veterinary assistance.
- ◆ Catholic Charities' Thrifty Shopper stores in Santa Barbara and Santa Maria provided, at no cost, clothing and household items to more than 3,680 low-income persons. In conjunction with the various human services programs provided by Catholic Charities in Santa Barbara County, vouchers were issued to clients to be redeemed at any of the Thrifty Shopper stores.

Santa Barbara Pastoral Region - Ventura County

- ◆ Catholic Charities' community centers in Moorpark, Oxnard, Thousand Oaks and Ventura delivered 86,000 services. This number includes an increase in over 25,000 information and referral contacts, as well as deliveries of 14,524 sack lunches and 53,828 grocery orders.
- ◆ The Older Adult Services and Intervention System (OASIS) offered assistance to 477 seniors. Qualified individuals received help with bill paying and care planning. Trained volunteers organized over 38,000 friendly visits, telephone reassurance calls and transportation to medical appointments.
- ◆ The Oxnard Community Center provided groceries to 3,958 individuals and served 6,514 lunches. The Oxnard Client Resource Coordinator and support staff helped approximately 50 households per month with casework intervention, homeless prevention and job placement, assisting 190 adults to find employment.
- ◆ The Moorpark Community Service Center delivered programs that helped stabilize low-income households. Of all households in Moorpark, 73.8% fall into the middle and upper income category, distinguishing Moorpark as one of the three wealthiest cities in Ventura County. However, 13.4% of these are low income, requiring more services and supplemental food because of underemployment, unemployment or the threat of eviction.
- ◆ In partnership with the City of Moorpark, the new Ruben Castro Human Services Building is anticipated to expand Catholic Charities' outreach services throughout Ventura County.

"I visit the Ventura Pantry twice a month to help supplement my groceries. I don't know what I would do without their help," said Serena Sparks.

Ways to Support the Work of Catholic Charities

Donate Online – Visit www.CatholicCharitiesLA.org and click the red “Donate Online” button to make secure online donations or explore the “How You Can Help” section to learn about easy ways to support Catholic Charities.

Join the Joyful Givers Circle – Make a monthly pledge commitment as part of this group of dedicated contributors. Call (213) 251-3494.

Donate Your Old Vehicle – Hand over the keys to your car, truck, R.V. or boat and receive a tax deduction. Call (213) 251-3494.

Have Your Employer Match Your Gift – Contact your company’s Human Resources Department to obtain a matching gift form.

Make a Memorial or Tribute Gift – Honor someone special by making a donation in his or her name.

Support through Planned Giving – Give through wills and trusts, charitable gift annuities, life insurance, appreciated securities, real estate, cash and other property. Visit www.CatholicCharitiesLA.org/plannedgiving to discover the variety of charitable choices and calculate what works for you.

Give to the Fund for the Future Endowment – Become a member of the Fund for the Future Society by contributing to Catholic Charities’ long-term endowment. Through estate gift and life income programs, the endowment expands the agency’s financial base so that it will continue to grow and meet the increasing needs of the communities Catholic Charities serves.

Attend a Special Event – Have fun while supporting Catholic Charities at an event. Call (213) 251-3494.

City of Angels Christmas Gala – December 7, 2012

Seventeenth Annual Catholic Charities Golf Tournament – June 17, 2013

Visit our Web site for more information on Regional events throughout the year.

For more information about supporting Catholic Charities, please contact Alexandria Arnold, Chief Development and Communications Officer, at sarnold@CatholicCharitiesLA.org or (213) 251-2495.
