2009-2010 ANNUAL REPORT

Providing Help.
Creating Hope.

ARCHDIOCESE OF LOS ANGELES

In Difficult Times, Catholic Charities is Here to Help

It was nearly two years ago that the stock market plummeted and the nation dipped into the deepest recession since the Great Depression. Stories of unemployment and hardship became the norm. Middle class families found themselves in economic uncertainty while those living in poverty were pushed deeper into despair.

For many, two years have passed and the story has not changed. People are still out of work, still struggling to pay the bills, and still searching for help and hope.

Fortunately, Catholic Charities of Los Angeles is dedicated to providing help and creating hope for people in need. Especially during the most difficult periods in one’s life, Catholic Charities offers the assistance and support that is vital to survive and thrive in our society.

During these difficult times, many social services agencies had to close their doors for financial reasons. Because of the leadership and commitment of the Board, donors, volunteers and staff, Catholic Charities was able to increase services to help 15% more people in this past fiscal year.

Throughout the years, Catholic Charities has been a welcoming place for those who could not find help anywhere else. Since 1919, people throughout Los Angeles, Ventura and Santa Barbara counties have turned to Catholic Charities with challenges such as unemployment, homelessness, hunger, poverty and community concerns.

Today, the agency operates 24 community centers and eight homeless shelters. In 2009-2010, Catholic Charities provided over 1.3 million services to more than 306,000 people. The following pages describe how Catholic Charities was a dependable source of help and hope during a trying year.

Dear Friends:

The economic problems faced by many people in our Archdiocese in this last year have been overwhelming. Problems like hunger, homelessness, unemployment, and lack of education often compound a longer list of hardships. Faced with this multitude of burdens, many people don't know where to turn.

Fortunately, Catholic Charities of Los Angeles provides programs and services to address the complicated needs that arise in difficult situations. By assessing each client individually, the agency offers specialized services and referrals to move clients from crisis to stability. Over the past 25 years, I have seen Catholic Charities confront the varied concerns of multiple generations through case management, family shelters, parenting classes, before-and after-school child care, and older adult services.

Managing the myriad needs in our community is not possible without the hard work of staff and volunteers and the financial contributions of dedicated donors. Without your support, families would have nowhere to turn in times of trouble.

Thank you for contributing to the worthwhile efforts of Catholic Charities of Los Angeles. I have been humbled to witness the important and compassionate work of this agency during my tenure as Archbishop.

Asking the Lord's most abundant blessing upon you and with every best wish, I am

Sincerely yours in Christ,

His Eminence

September 2010

Dear Friends of Catholic Charities:

For more than 91 years, Catholic Charities of Los Angeles, Inc. has been helping those in need, whether it was organizing soup kitchens in the early 1900s or training formerly homeless women in the Culinary Arts today.

We are all facing an enormous economic struggle now and, during difficult times, people can lose hope. They don't know where to turn. They may feel there is nobody to trust and that they have few options for help. It is during these periods that Catholic Charities delivers its most critical work of Providing Help and Creating Hope.

Alleviating hunger, helping families avoid eviction and getting those who were homeless off the streets are just a few of the highlights of Catholic Charities' past year of service. Catholic Charities has earned its reputation as a source of comfort for those who long for the very basics, i.e. food and shelter. Catholic Charities is a welcome harbor for the swelling number of people who find themselves unemployed and facing eviction, foreclosure, homelessness or hunger. In the 2009-2010 fiscal year, the agency provided over 1.3 million services to more than 306,000 people in desperate need of aid.

The success of this fiscal year is due to the agency's committed Board, the dedicated staff, the enthusiastic volunteers and the generous donors. Because of your support, Catholic Charities is able to continue bringing dignity and hope to those who receive our services.

God Bless,

Archdiocesan Youth Employment Services - AYE

AYE provides paid job experience and mentorships to youth and young adults from low-income families. These jobs offer valuable experience and exposure to mainstream culture, which teaches the youth established cultural norms, work-life values, and essential skills that can help participants obtain competitive careers.

- ◆ In the past fiscal year, AYE assisted 2,900 youth and young adults, representing a substantial increase over the last year, due to Stimulus Funding that was targeted to increase stability in very low-income families and neighborhoods. More than 400 employers participated in the program.
- ◆ The Summer Employment programs provided 2,800 jobs to disadvantaged youth in fields such as health care, education and community service.

Catholic Youth Organization - CYO

CYO is a sports league for Catholic school students in grades three through eight. Sports include basketball, track, cross country, golf, softball, cheerleading and volleyball. Participants have fun and learn life-long values by playing sports through CYO.

- ◆ Cross Country was introduced as a new sport in 2009-2010. In November, 300 children participated in three marked courses: a half mile course; a one mile course; and a one and a half mile course. The event was such a success that it will now become an annual Veteran's Day Event.
- ◆ The three golf tournaments in the year increased participation by 100% from previous years, much to the credit of a very enthusiastic group of volunteers.
- ◆ Participation in soccer also peaked in 2009-2010, with over 70 teams and 1,100 players involved.

"CYO is community and sports all wrapped up in one package. My grandchildren each have had wonderful experiences with the program."

~ A grandmother of two children who have gone through CYO.

Immigration and Refugee Department

Catholic Charities' immigration and refugee programs emphasize citizenship, responsibility and independence and help immigrants as they adjust to a new culture.

- ◆ The Refugee Resettlement Program resettled 360 newly arrived political refugees and served 215 local asylees. Most political refugees in 2009-2010 were escaping from Iran.
- ◆ Catholic Immigration Services began offering special services to help older adults, age 60 and above, adjust to life in the United States, since they generally have a harder time assimilating.
- ◆ Esperanza Immigrant Rights Project champions those vulnerable individuals who are caught in the quagmire of a complex legal system that they, alone, are unable to navigate. The majority of Esperanza's clients are fleeing persecution in their countries of origin.
- ◆ Esperanza Immigrant Rights Project served 8,300 people and increased the number of services by an average of 40%. Services included individual and group legal rights presentations for adults and children, legal orientations, small workshops and pro-bono attorneys.

- ◆ Kids In Need of Defense (KIND), founded by Microsoft Corporation and Angelina Jolie, granted a fellowship for an Esperanza attorney to exclusively provide legal representation to unaccompanied children.

Central Intake Unit

Central Intake Unit (CIU) helps refugees plan for long-term self-reliance and stability. Services include job training and coaching, case management and life skills workshops. In the 2009-2010 fiscal year, most clients came from Iran while a small percentage came from Iraq.

- ◆ CIU served 1,220 clients in 2009-2010 with case management and coordination of services.
- ◆ The program helped 1,005 individuals who were receiving public assistance to obtain skills that will prepare them for viable employment.

"My wife already passed the immigrant visa interview! Now, she will be able to come to the U.S. and be with me by the end of this July. Thank you so much for all your help in processing the paperwork for our happy family reunification."

Our Lady of the Angels Pastoral Region – Metro Area

Los Angeles residents continue to feel the adverse effects of the economic recession. Jobs are scarce, housing costs are high and healthcare is often inaccessible. In fiscal year 2009-2010, programs in Our Lady of the Angels Pastoral Region, Metro Area, helped clients of all ages overcome difficult situations.

- ◆ St. Mary's Center served approximately 70,000 clients with groceries, motel vouchers, legal services provided in partnership with Christian Legal Aid of Los Angeles and referrals to medical facilities through QueensCare Health & Faith Partnership.
- ◆ In a very low-income neighborhood, El Santo Niño Center served over 7,000 people with gang prevention intervention, computer training, ESL classes and employment assistance. The center's Adeste before-and after-school child care program also helped 50 families.
- ◆ Angel's Flight, a comprehensive shelter and outreach program for runaway, homeless and at-risk youth between the ages of 10 through 17, housed approximately 300 youth and served over 10,000 teens through its My Club after-school program and its employment services.
- ◆ Good Shepherd Center for Homeless Women and Children assisted over 250 women with shelter and another 150 with drop-in day services, which include a hot lunch, showers, laundry and bus tokens. In addition, 45 women at Hawkes Transitional Residence and 30 women at Farley Transitional Residence received case management, job coaching, and computer instruction. The program also taught marketable culinary skills through training at the Village Kitchen & Bakery.

"This is a place where we can come to do our homework, go on the Internet and just hang out. It keeps us off the streets."

Our Lady of the Angels Pastoral Region – Western Area

Focused on service to homeless and low-income clients on Los Angeles' westside, Our Lady of the Angels Pastoral Region, Western Area, helped thousands of people in need in fiscal year 2009-2010.

- ◆ Over 100 volunteers from six Catholic parishes dedicated their time and resources to make the Weekend Food Program at St. Robert's Center in Venice a success. The volunteers supplied more than 13,000 homeless persons and low-income families with sack lunches, groceries, clothing and personal hygiene items in the only program of its kind that is open on the weekend in west Los Angeles.
- ◆ St. Peter Claver's Center, serving Los Angeles' Crenshaw District, received special funding from the City of Los Angeles to provide basic emergency services to 7,000 homeless and low-income individuals and families. Services included groceries, utility assistance, motel vouchers, tax return preparation assistance and referrals to other community resources.
- ◆ St. Margaret's Center helped more than 50,000 clients with a multitude of services, including a food pantry, citizenship and English as a Second Language classes, a literacy program, Food Stamp applications, counseling services, rental assistance and referrals to community resources.
- ◆ The Adeste Child Care program offered after-school care at three westside Catholic elementary schools to approximately 100 families during the academic year. This low-cost, quality child care incorporates tutoring, exercise as well as arts and crafts activities.
- ◆ Counseling Services at St. Robert's Center in Venice assisted approximately 300 clients with affordable, professional mental health services.

“Thank you very much for helping with my electricity bill today. I really appreciate it. It's nice to know that some people still care.”

San Fernando Pastoral Region

The sprawling San Fernando Pastoral Region stretches from the north of Lancaster through the southeastern reaches of Glendale and to the Ventura County border in the west. The 2009-2010 fiscal year presented the particular challenge of meeting increased client needs, as the number of those who were jobless or underemployed grew.

- ◆ Guadalupe Center in Canoga Park offered Immigration and Refugee Resettlement, a program for the elderly, ESL classes, an Alcoholics Anonymous support group, pre-school, after-school learning program and after-school sports in conjunction with the Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts.
- ◆ Older Adult Services Intervention System (OASIS) at Guadalupe Center provided training and technical support to almost 100 volunteers, from eight area Catholic Churches, to help them assist 202 elderly persons.
- ◆ Glendale Community Center provided financial assistance and supplemental food, as well as low-cost clothing and everyday household items at its thrift shop.
- ◆ Loaves and Fishes food pantries in Canoga Park, Van Nuys and Glendale offered food to 13,511 unduplicated clients and provided case management services to 263 households.
- ◆ Open 365 days per year, the Day Laborer Centers in Burbank and Glendale strived to provide a fair and equitable system for both the workers and those who hire them. Over the course of the year, 282 unduplicated workers utilized the centers' services.
- ◆ Lancaster Community Shelter served homeless men, women and children. In 2009-2010, 913 people stayed at the shelter while working to obtain stability.

“This was our very first time asking for assistance and we were not only helped with rental and utility support, as well as food, but were treated with dignity and kindness. They even gave us food for our cat.”

~ Glendale Community Center client

San Gabriel Pastoral Region

Catholic Charities' San Gabriel Pastoral Region reached out to some of the poorest residents of Los Angeles County. Here are a few highlights from the 2009-2010 year.

- ◆ Brownson House, located in the Boyle Heights area of East Los Angeles, offered a women's support group and a senior support group, both of which met weekly to share educational, recreational and social activities.
- ◆ San Juan Diego Center in El Monte supported parents in various ways throughout the year. Parenting classes were a major program component and an AmeriCorps volunteer helped to identify high-risk pregnancies for referral to the San Gabriel Best Babies Collaborative, headed by Citrus Valley Health Partners, which promotes healthy births.
- ◆ The Pomona Community Services Program, focused on homeless prevention, served 330 households in the City of Pomona.
- ◆ The Adeste after-school child care program served 190 children and included a summer camp at Park Elementary School, providing a safe haven for children of working parents. Tuition scholarships were available for needy families throughout the year.
- ◆ Professional mental health services were offered in Pomona and included group work in areas such as Adult Children of Alcoholics, How to Behave as a Gentleman and Dealing with Domestic Violence.
- ◆ McGill Street House, a seven-bed shelter for homeless women with children, opened its doors in San Gabriel. Of the four families housed at McGill in the past year, two families have moved out into permanent housing.

"I am just grateful for the food pantry, helping me to survive, for what I am hoping will be a temporary period."

~ A Brownson House client

San Pedro Pastoral Region

It was a remarkable year for the San Pedro Pastoral Region, especially in the area of basic and emergency assistance. Through its community centers and shelters, the Region helped those affected by the economic crisis.

- ◆ The number of clients in need of food, clothing and bill payment assistance at the Long Beach Community Services Center rose by 53% since last year, while the Pico Rivera Family Resource Center saw an increase in clients of 23%.
- ◆ The Region's homeless prevention program served 181 families and 52 individuals, who were experiencing a financial crisis, such as loss of job, to pay rent and utilities. Overall, 779 persons received utilities assistance, a dramatic increase from the 225 helped last year.

- ◆ The Elizabeth Ann Seton Residence and Project Achieve shelters consistently maintained full capacity as families and individuals worked toward more stable lives.
- ◆ Food pantries in Long Beach and Pico Rivera frequently saw lines stretch down the block as people came to collect groceries. In order to address hunger, the Region, along with three other Catholic Charities Regions, helped clients apply for Food Stamps and then hand-delivered applications to the Department of Public Social Services for quick processing.
- ◆ Two community centers, Oasis and Mahar House, continued to provide programs in parenting, computer literacy, job acquisition, budgeting and nutrition, and also offered after-school programs to promote school success and leadership skills.

“Words cannot express how grateful I am. Your help relieved so much pressure and stress and allowed me to get back on my feet.”

~ A client in the homeless prevention program at Long Beach Community Services Center

Santa Barbara Pastoral Region - Santa Barbara County

Although Santa Barbara is known for gorgeous beaches, vineyards and beautiful houses, there are thousands of people in the county who struggle to eat and keep a roof over their heads. In the past year, Catholic Charities' Santa Barbara Pastoral Region assisted individuals and families throughout the County by helping with emergency provisions and planning for brighter futures.

- ◆ More than 41,400 unduplicated clients accessed 214,183 services in the Santa Barbara Region, thanks to the hard work and dedication of staff, advisory board members and other volunteers.
- ◆ In Santa Barbara, Carpinteria and Isla Vista, over 72,968 services were rendered to the working poor.

- ◆ The Lompoc Community Service Center and its Food Distribution Services programs served 17,857 unduplicated clients and supplied 86,579 services involving food, rental assistance and utility subsidies to needy families. Despite a staff of two, the services were given with the invaluable assistance of volunteers who made sure that everyone who needed assistance was helped.

- ◆ Santa Maria's Community Center continued to deliver essential support to the people of Santa Maria and the outlying areas of Guadalupe and the New Cuyama Valley. A combined 12,864 unduplicated clients received over 44,137 services.

- ◆ The thrift stores in Santa Barbara and Santa Maria provided 2,700 low-income individuals and families with clothes and household items, valued at over $55,000, at no cost and also generated significant revenue to support Catholic Charities' programs throughout Santa Barbara County.

"It was hard to come and ask for help, but this food and rental assistance really will keep my family together. Thank you for your kindness."

~ A new Santa Maria Community Center client experiencing the distress due to the economy

Santa Barbara Pastoral Region - Ventura County

With a local commitment to maximizing resources and minimizing hunger, the Ventura County programs truly accomplished more with less in fiscal year 2009-2010. To keep food pantries stocked, the Region tripled calls for donations and reached out to local markets for day-old and nearly expired products. The Region also offered creative assistance when budgets were tight, much needed information and referrals, and even a shoulder to lean on, all free of charge and full of compassion.

“I hope Catholic Charities realizes that they just saved my life. Not only today, because I hadn’t eaten for three days, but now I think I can get off the streets. Makes a guy want to start going back to church!”

~ “Frank,” a client at the Ventura Community Services Center

- ◆ Community Service Centers provided nearly 108,000 basic needs services to 42,824 people through locations in Moorpark, Oxnard, Thousand Oaks and Ventura to help keep people housed, healthy and happy.
- ◆ The Adeste quality, affordable, licensed after-school program provided a safe and nurturing environment for 39 students for 3,022 days of care in Oxnard at two local Catholic schools.
- ◆ Older Adult Services and Intervention System (OASIS) helped 3,049 older adults maintain independence and stability to prevent premature institutionalization due to lack of support. Dedicated volunteers contributed to the program by making home visits to clients to offer assistance and friendship. In addition to serving the elderly, OASIS eases the emotional and financial strain on caregivers, often close family members, allowing the younger generation to better care for themselves.
- ◆ Volunteers throughout Ventura County provided valuable services for no salary after witnessing great suffering in their communities. While many were unable to give financially, they were happy to give freely of themselves.
